

Chris Kaselemis, AICP, has been the Program Director for Economic Initiatives for the City of Tucson since 2012. He has an MBA from the University of Arizona and earned his Certified Planner designation from the American Planning Association. Chris has worked for the City for over 27 years, including Housing and Community Development, Planning, and the City Manager's Office.