355th Fighter Wing
Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson AZ

COLONEL (Ret) STEVEN "SCOTT" HINES

Scott Hines is the Director, Community Initiatives, 355th Fighter Wing, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson AZ.

Davis-Monthan is one of the largest installations in the United States Air Force, with more than 7,000 military and 3,200 civilians assigned to the base. Colonel Rawls plays a key role in organizing, training, and equipping a 22-squadron wing, including three flying squadrons and one geographically-separated air control squadron. The wing provides A-10C close air support and forward air control, combat support forces, and medical forces to combatant commanders worldwide. The 355th Fighter Wing also provides flying training to all active duty Air Force A-10 pilots and is the Air Combat Command executive agent for Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces and Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty compliance

A native of Oneida, Tennessee, Scott entered the Air Force in 1974 as a Cadet, United States Air Force Academy and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in May 1978. A Command Pilot with more than 3600 flying hours, he has held a variety of flying and staff positions. These include assignments as a T-37 instructor; a C-140 instructor/examiner; Squadron Officer School Flight Commander/Chief of Training; Major Command Safety Officer; Deputy Director Air Education & Training Command's Command Action Group; Air Force Recruiting Squadron Commander; Director of Operations/Commander Air Force Flight Standards Agency, Flight Inspection Center; Investigator/Director Senior Official Inquiries, Office of the Air Force Inspector General; and Installation Inspector General Davis-Monthan Air Force Base before retiring as Colonel 1 June 2007 with 29 years of active service. Mr. Hines transitioned from Military service to Civil service in 2007 to stand up new Community Initiatives Team for Davis-Monthan AFB. For the past 6 years his principal role has been direct engagement and liaison between the installation leadership and the broad cross-section of Federal, Tribal Nation, State, County, City and Community leaders to support and enhance community relations and ensure the long term viability of Davis Monthan AFB and the DoD missions in Southern Arizona.

Colonel (Ret) Hines is married to the former Laura L. Carlberg of Tucson, Arizona. They have two sons, Michael and Brian.
