

SHORT BIO: Greg Curtis Wakefield

Greg has a passion for people. He sees opportunity everywhere for us to reach higher and get more from life by helping managers and CEOs empower and enable their teams' success. For 24 years, he entertained and informed mass media audiences with genuine warmth and wit, and now he leverages those leadership traits and vast communication skills to help individuals and organizations attain world class results. Where gaps and challenges exist, Greg can help.